odist church in northeast Ardmore, recently pounded their pastor, W. A.
Armstrong, colored, for which he desires to thank them, through the columns of the Ardmoreite.

CHICKASAW TEACHERS' NORMAL

Saturday the committee appointed to settle the place for holding the Teachers' Normal this summer convenes here. The Ardmoreite has spoken of the need for Ardmore to secure this splendid body. Some town in this new state that is to be, is going to lead in school affairs. Why not Ardmore? This is to determine our place in educational matters. If one hundred or one hundred and fifty teachers come here this summer and get royally treated, as they shall if they come, the city wins their good will and out the influence goes, and on to something better.

There is a bonus asked from the city. Whatever it may be, let the citizens heartily give and it will return to them seven-fold.

One thing needed is cheap board.
The best homes of Wynnewood opened their doors to the teachers last summer at $12.50 per month. It would be well in all school affairs of Ardmore if this, or something like this, could be done. Ardmore schools, public business and collegiate, will never flourish as they might, or should, until the problem of moderate prices for board be solved.

To Our Readers.

Owing to sickness, the Ardmoreite carrier boy for the south part of the city, was unable for duty last evening, this doubled the work of another carrier and as can be expected created some confusion, a few failing to receive their paper. The young man, we learn, will be able to take up his work again this evening, with his usual efficient service. In such a condition we can only ask your consideration, and thank all who have informed us in the matter.

Elks' Masque Ball.

The committee who has the Elks Ball Masque in charge make the announcement that the affair gives promise of eclipsing any of the previous events given during the social season by the local order. The committee states that no expense will be spared for the first annual bal masque and indications are that the ball room will be taxed to its capacity on the evening of the 14th. The novelty of the affair has created a good deal of interest and rivalry among the Elks of the city and a feature will be the handsome costumes.
Each Elk will attempt to outshine his antlered brother.

The committee announces also that music will be one of the features of the occasion. A five piece orchestra the best in Oklahoma City, has been especially engaged. It is also stated that a buffet luncheon will be served immediately following the unmasking of the dancers at 11:30 o'clock.

The affair will be exclusively for Elks and their lady friends and no one will be permitted on the floor unless in costume. The grand march will commence at 9 o'clock.

Carlyle's Bluntness.

Thomas Carlyle once took Lord Houghton (Richard Milnes) to task in regard to the proposed pension for Lord Tennyson. "Richard Milnes," said Carlyle, taking his pipe out of his mouth, "which are ye going to get that pension for Alfred Tennyson?" Milnes tried to explain that there were difficulties in the way and that possibly his constituents, who knew nothing about Tennyson, would accuse him of being concerned in a job were he to succeed in getting the desired pension for the poet. "Richard Milnes," replied the sage, "on the day of judgment, when the Lord asks ye why ye didn't get that pension for Alfred Tennyson, it'll no do to lay the blame on your constituents. It's you that'll be damned."

A Careful Patient.

A woman whose throat had troubled her for a long time, says a writer in the Philadelphia Ledger, grew impatient at the slow progress she was making and made complaint to her doctor, who said:

"Madam, I can never cure you of this throat trouble unless you stop talking and give your throat a complete rest."

"But, doctor," objected his patient, "I'm very careful what I say. I never use harsh language or anything of that kind."

Never accuse a man of being honest until you know the amount of money he has been offered as a bribe.
